Introduction

THE KEY is a strategic East-West peacebuilding art exhibition/ installation that uses the globally recognized ancient Egyptian symbol of the Ankh as the canvas for a contemporary message of hope for a harmonious, peaceful and tolerant world.

Organized by CARAVAN, THE KEY showcases the work of 40 premier Egyptian, Middle Eastern and Western visual artists and is focused on a modern three-dimensional fiberglass portrayal (1.20 meter in height) of the ancient "Key of Life," known in Egypt as the Ankh, the ancient Egyptian hieroglyphic character that read "life", seen as the oldest known symbol of pluralism, tolerance and harmony.

This blending of the old with the new stimulates contemplation of values over time; how peaceful coexistence was once possible and, despite current misunderstandings can be once again. The focus of the exhibition is on "the key" all peoples, East and West, living in a peaceful and harmonious world. This cultural endeavor with the Ankh at its heart is a powerful means to unite people of different backgrounds. Sales income from THE KEY goes to supporting a local Egyptian charity that is assisting the poorest of the poor. The Founding Sponsor of THE KEY is SODIC, a major real estate firm in Egypt.

THE KEY exhibition opens in Cairo, Egypt (where the Ankh symbol originated) and will be subsequently showcased in London, England and New York City, USA.

THE KEY has three primary focuses:

- 1) An Artistic Focus---a ground-breaking art exhibition involving premier and emerging contemporary artists
- 2) A Peacebuilding Focus--using the ancient symbol of the Ankh that represents pluralism and tolerance, building bridges between the Middle East and West
- 3) A Charity Focus—supporting a strategic Egyptian charity assisting children among the poorest of the poor, providing them hope and a future through the sales of the art.

The exhibition/installation set up will vary depending on the venue, from being displayed on plinths to hanging at slightly different heights and angles, with the viewers walking in, under and around the hanging “keys of life”.

Strategic Need

The world we live in today is fast-paced and is one where stereotypes and media hype can overshadow fundamental truths that stand regardless of background or faith. People all over the world have the same needs and want to live in peace. For generations the Middle East has been a place of turmoil and now, more than ever, it is vital that the growing Western misconceptions and apprehensions about the region be addressed. In the ever widening divide that exists between the Middle East and West, we have found that art is a vehicle for understanding and imagination.

It is essential that people of different cultural backgrounds have the opportunity to gain an insight into the world and values of ‘the other’. Art has always been a means of expression for the artist and a soul enriching and shaping experience for the viewer. At CARAVAN we have experienced the transformative power that art can have, changing perceptions and speaking directly to the global unconscious.

The premier artists invited to participate in THE KEY all share the ethos of the project; to engender harmony and peace among people of different nationalities, heritages and faith backgrounds so that we can all coexist and benefit from our diversity. This project is a starting point, around which additional programs are held at each venue (i.e. music, workshops, talks, panels, etc.). Also, the educational aspect of the exhibition is being maximized with school visits and downloadable resources for teachers.

THE KEY will grab the imagination and inspire the audience to realize what is possible, what is precious and how we can all play our part in shaping our world into one where understanding and compassion are valued above all.

History and Symbolism of the Ankh (Key of Life)—A Symbol of Harmony

The Ankh, the ancient Egyptian hieroglyphic character that read ‘life’ represented the concept of eternal life, something seen within Ancient Egypt that all peoples had in common. Over the millennia the Ankh has been adopted and modified by many cultures and religions. Widely regarded as a symbol of early religious and cultural pluralism, the Ankh is today a globally recognized symbol invoking harmony, and the tolerance of diversity as in Ancient Egypt.

In the West the Ankh is one of the most recognizable of all ancient symbols.

The Ankh is also a symbol of hope; a hopeful future. The new logo for the Ministry of Tourism in Egypt is based around the Ankh. The “Key of Life” symbol has also been taken as the logo and theme for Egypt’s future.
